ORDER

As per the G.O. read as 1st paper above, revised PWD Manual was published and as per the G.O. read as 2nd paper above, a Technical Committee was appointed for implementation of the PWD Manual after rectifying the anomalies pointed from various corners. The Committee decided to prepare a comprehensive Quality Control Manual for PWD in lieu of Section 9 of the revised Manual. A working group was formed for this purpose including officers having ample experience in construction and quality control.

As per the G.O. read as 3rd paper above, Quality Control laboratories were established in PWD. In this context, the working group observed that a separate Quality Control Manual is necessary for the use of the Quality Control laboratories and for those who are associated with the first-tier Quality Control testing as envisaged in Clause 2401 of the revised PWD Manual. A separate team headed by the Director (I&QC) was entrusted with this task. The draft Quality Control Laboratory Manual prepared by the team was presented before the Chief Engineers Committee. The final draft of the Quality Control Laboratory Manual, after incorporating the suggestions/amendments by the Chief Engineer's Committee was submitted for approval from the Government as per the letter read as 4th paper above.
